Word Of The Chairman

Dear Reader,

I hope that my words today will give more optimistic picture about the economical situation for the next half of the year 2009.

As we in Edar believe that the world will manage to pass this difficult crisis by the end of this year and start a better atmosphere for the economic to grow again during year 2010.

So we believe that investing in real estate now will have much less risk than it was in the last 2 quarters and it can be the right time for people who are looking for a nice house with suitable prices for their families, we also believe that it is the right time for investors to start injecting their money now in buying real estates in discounted prices before prices starts to move up again so that they can get a good capital gain on their investments.

We don't want to have rosy hopes about expectations in the next few months but we also should be there when things get better and not regret missing the opportunity of getting a good price on real estate comparing with markets today.
